“ We are saddened to hear of Chad's passing. Please accept our deepest sympathy. Loosing a child is one of the hardest things to accept. Hopefully your faith and knowing there are many friends and strangers thinking of all of you and praying for your strength now and in the months ahead will help in some small way to deal with your loss.

“ My husband's brother Bill Lee had been Chad's roommate at the Orchards since Bill came there several years ago. Chad was always in a good mood and was very pleasant to be around. I know he and Bill liked to stay up late watching TV. They were good for each other. Chad came along so far from the first time we met him. Heaven gained a great angel! Ted and Jane Lee. Ada Ohio

“ I know your not suppose have favorites in my line of work but every now and then you come across such an inspiration you can't help it. Chad Williams was only 34 and required around the clock care but man let me tell you, he was an inspiration to keep on doing the best you can.

I will never forget the YOs when I ever passed his room, the flirting with "ALL THE LADIES", throwing up the devil HORNS lml whenever a kick ass Rock song was on, the " Oh Yeahs" when a hot chick was on TV, the smile he give no matter how he was feeling, his laugh at my stupid jokes, his love for the BUCKEYES. What I wouldn't give to give him one more first bump with a "Badam" and a Mighty O H followed by a Hardy I O from you my friend. Rest easy my friend.

“ Chad was one of a kind with his laughter, love and great personalty. He could always put a smile on my face no matter what kind of day I was having. In the 3 years I got to take care of him, he became like a son to me. I celebrated in his accomplishments and I worried and cried in his set backs. He was our "sunshine" at Northcrest!! He will be missed so badly. Life at Northcrest will not be the same without him!! No more " I tell ya", getting shot in the rear with a foam bullet, and our quick draw for our shoot out. Chad and I got laughing so hard the other day when he had his vest on. He got singing like he use to and we were almost crying from laughter!! My prayers go out to Karen and Greg and the rest of your family. You guys have become like family to me and not seeing your faces around will not be the same either!! I pray that God wraps you in his arms and gives you love and comfort during this time. I truly believe that heaven received the most wonderful angel when Chad closed his eyes!! Love, Lucinda Schindley
