“ Doug was my brother from another mother. I know this is just a saying, but Doug was really a brother to me. I loved the guy. He was this big, goofy guy who could move any big thing we needed help with without breaking out into a sweat. Rich always would say, "We will call mountain of a man Doug...He can help me." And that is who Doug was. He would drop what he was doing to lend a hand. If you were down, he would take his finger to his lips and do that bababa thing that he thought was do funny. How could you not feel better when he did that! If that wasn't enough, he would put his thumb to his nose and to the naner naner naner thing....No idea how to put these sounds into words, but I am sure you know what I am talking about, right Suzi and Connie? So as we get closer to saying our last farewells, I just want to say how blessed I am to have had this man in my life. My family is so honored to be a part of his final journey. Love to you all. Mary, Rich, and family

“ From the fields, forests, plains of Africa and war-torn Europe, to the frozen tundra of Korea, to the jungles of Southeast Asia, from the deserts of Kuwait and Iraq to the mountains of Afghanistan, brave patriots have protected our nation’s ideals, rescued millions from tyranny, and helped spread freedom around the globe. America’s veterans answered the call when asked to protect our nation from some of the most brutal oppression the world has ever known. Military service demands a special kind of sacrifice. The places where you are sent to live and serve bring risk every day. From the time you put on that uniform for the first time, the interests of the nation move to the forefront and define your life. Those duties are shared by family members who make many sacrifices of their own, sometimes bearing the burden of losing a loved one. Service brings rewards as well. There is pride in developing one’s own character, serving a cause far greater than self-interest. Every person who wears America’s uniform is part of a long, unbroken line of achievement and honor. No single military power in history has done greater good, shown greater courage, liberated more people or upheld higher standards of decency and valor than the Armed Forces of the United States of America. That is a legacy to be proud of and those who contributed to it must never be taken for granted. To honor our veterans, we must keep the promises we have made to them. We must care for those who have been injured in the service of our country. We must honor and remember those who have died. And we must remember those whose fate is still undetermined. We fly the Prisoner of War flag on Veterans Day for a reason, to show that this nation will not relent until we have accounted for every one of our missing Americans. Thank you for your service. Thank you for all that you have sacrificed for this great nation. Thank you for being the backbone of America.

“ I worked with Doug at Sabre and was told he was knowledgeable when it came to what he did best, an inspector! He could achieve all tasks and knew them like he was reading from the books! He was one I went to anytime I needed to know how to or what to do when I came to a problem that I wasn't sure about. Sabre sure lost a very wise guy that knew alot about his job an was great at helping the "newbees". He absolutely loved to share stories of his life an loved his family! He was a proud dad of his daughter! What a great and helpful guy he was, missed by many.

“ Doug was the best cheerleader anyone could ask for. He gave the best hugs and was always trying to make you smile. He was so protective of those he loved. I will never forget him and how he empowered me to be who I am today. I am going to miss his smiles, laughs, and fun times at the river. I love you, Doug. Hubba Hubba.

“ I could share so many things about Doug but the best memories revolve around his humor, and kindness. he made being the only woman fab/welder at Sabre very interesting. I never knew if his spectacular sarcasm was going to be the highlight of all of word day, or if his cheesy jokes were going to be what did us all in. I didn't know what to think of Doug when I first met him but I soon became fast work buddies with him. He knew exactly how to get a person going and he knew when you needed a shoulder. His best quality, no joke intended, was being a strait shooter with no harm intended to the person on the receiving end. My heart breaks for all his family and friends. Doug will be greatly missed!

Sincere Condolences

He was my best friend at Tinora. He would give pep talks to me at my job. He knew I am autistic and felt bad of the bullying I suffered. He was a great buddy
