“ Susan - thank you so much for the phone call and conversation. I remember overnight shopping trips to St.Cloud with Betsy. One was memorable because of 40 miles with no bathroom available. Can you believe a lady as classy as Betsy carried a little flask so we could have a drink in our motel room? She could scour a store for bargains or clothes that would suit she (tall,slim) and me (short, NOT slim) in no time at all. Susan - you mentioned the lipstick; she generally looked so put-together - hair, make up, clothes; she changed purses to match outfits. We go back quite a few year so she was the first person I knew who used a word-processor, the prelude to computers. Her vocabulary was extensive. We'd have lunch lots of Saturdays at the North 40 in Madison and sit and talk for hours over coffee. After they moved to Ohio, she'd call on my birthday and sing "Happy Birthday" to me. Once when they returned to visit MN, she'd been at Filling Home for a number of years and I thought I could sense a difference in her after working with the profoundly affected clients there; she spoke with such compassion and affection and concern about them - one girl in particular, Darcy. When we'd talk or exchange letters, we always caught each other up on parents, kids, siblings - and husbands. Love her Bob! I do remember feeling cheated when they moved because that hadn't happened to me before. I feel that more intensely knowing she has gone to her forever home. Hallelujah!
Hugs to you, Susan, Bob, David, and Jon & fiance. Nancy

“ As you say goodbye to Betsy, may her college friends remind you of her trailblazing spirit and her love of life expressed in her career choice and caring for others. Celebrate with joy her life and the gifts she shared. She fought the fight and has won the prize, eternal life. Thanks be to God for this unspeakable gift.! Knowing we will meet again at Jesus feet is the legacy Betsy would wish for all of us. She will be missed but certainly left her mark. My sympathy to her family and friends. Ellen Gallon

“ Betsy and I grew up a house away from each other. Susan was a year older and Betsy a year younger. Betsy was always fun to be with. Remember playing card games at their house. "Authors" was the one I could never win. Happy, vivid memories of long ago. So sorry for your loss.

“ Betsy treated me like a second mom during the time I knew her. She always pampered me with an abundance of love and respect. Somehow, her making sure my feet were warm, my coffee mug was full and the constant “do you need anything” never felt overwhelming. I felt accepted and loved. I remember the time my diabetic cat chewed on her beautiful houseplants while staying at her home. She laughed this off and said all was well. As a strong, caring, confident woman, she remains a role model. Her family meant the world to her. She meant the world to me.
