“ Mom, there will never be enough words or tears for how we are all feeling right now. Although we wish you back with us we know the pain you endured for the past two months was more than your body could handle. God also knew and called his angel home. May you fly on eagles wings and give dad a big old hug for us too. You were mom to so many that weren't even blood. That didn't matter to you and I'm glad it didn't because you had more than enough love to go around. I love you and I'll miss you more than you could have ever imagined.

*Mama's are supposed to be ~ around for all time
You left us for a home above ~ in the sweet by and by
And when I look up at the sky ~ I hold back my tears
Wishing, praying to myself ~ you were once again right here.*

This world was blessed in having her here for the short time she was here. But heaven is blessed now that shes home with the lord .I know shes happy and pain free now .
