“ Had great times with you when you lived with me. All the last minute going to school. The cook outs we had. And all the long phone calls and talk about nothing we always had a good time. You and my son going crazy. Never a dual moment with you. You are like a brother to me, my family and son loved you so much.

“ I still remember being out on guard duty one night back in Afghanistan, feeling pretty down and not wanting to talk. Out of know where you look up at me and say, "Hankins, I hate to be the bearer of bad news, but I'm a bear, and I got bad news." I thought it was such a lame joke, yet, I still find myself thinking about it. Two years later and it still makes me laugh. R.I.P. Brother. Heaven welcomes you, for you've served your time in Hell.
