“ My deepest sympathy for the loss of your loved one. Losing a loved one is very difficult. May you find comfort in God's promises to wipe all tears from our faces and swallow up death forever. (Revelation 21:3,4;Isaiah 25:8).

“ I remember Sandy as the mother of my best friend growing up. She was welcoming and friendly when I came to visit and even found a way to include me in all their family activities-- Poker, bowling, collecting money for the Disabled American Veterans (DAV), and even going to Vacation Bible School. In fact, it's because of my attending VBS with Dan that I memorized my first Bible verse: "Through thy precepts I gain understanding, therefor I hate every false way." My prayers for the Wolf family.

“ *When I came into her life she was getting on in years
Still strong enough to work, but soft enough for tears.
Eyes so full of wisdom, a heart as pure as gold,
Never once afraid of dying, but she dreaded growing old.*

*I never knew another one that could love so much.
She was firm in her convictions, but tender with her touch.
Strictly from the old school, each thing was right or wrong,
And the weakening of her body just made her spirit strong.*

*The soldier won the battle, She's in Gloryland somewhere.
The soldier won the battle, no more aging there.
Living now with Jesus, waiting 'til I come
Busy for the Master, forever always young. (by Joel Hemphill)*

*We'll miss you Sandi, but we know where you are.
Irl, Suni and Denver.*
